Keeping History Alive....One Model At A Time

Appalachian Scale Modelers Show Attended By Club Members

By: Rocky Sink

On Saturday, September 7, several members of the club headed to Greenville, Tennessee for their annual show. This years show was the first for some of the members in the club as they wanted to see how the GSB (Gold, Silver, Bronze) was held. More on the GSB style show in an upcoming newsletter.

The show was well attended by numerous modelers but the automotive class's were definitely where the heaviest of models were entered. Gundam and dioramas were the next biggest class's in the show. It was good seeing several members of the club attend the show and in a couple case's they had come down early to take in the sights around town for a day or two before the weekend show. The show was held at a local recreation center that had ample space and parking for the attendees at the show. Lunch was available for those that had munchies at lunchtime and during the day.

If shopping was your interest than there was numerous vendors at the show with everything from older kits to new and as well there were 3d printed items, magazines, paints and numerous other items used for modeling. There was even a vendor with a small dog that spent the whole day running around the show area talking to everyone and looking for a rub on the head.

We look forward to heading back to the ASMA show next year. Make sure to read the article on the GSB type show in an upcoming newsletter.

Save The Date....Maybe....Possibly

What? Ok so Devin is working on our Christmas Dinner for this year and at the last meeting we decided to have the dinner on Friday, December 6th. So as of now that is the plan and I have mentioned it here so you can pencil in the date on your calendar. But until we hear from Devin at an upcoming meeting to confirm the plans were made at a location and the date is confirmed, we are just temporarily giving the date for the dinner.

Getwell SOON!

Get well wish's go out to Bob and Carolyn who have been under the weather recently.

As well good wish's go out to Butch as his son recently spent time in the hospital and his wife continues to improve after some medical issues earlier this year.

Our thoughts are with everyone while recovering!!

Annual Potluck Dinner Well Attended

By Rocky Sink

The annual potluck dinner was held once again at the Virginia Museum of Transportation again this year. As usual there were numerous kinds of dishes with casseroles, chicken, sandwich's, finger foods, hot dogs and much much more to enjoy. Of course you need dessert after a good meal so there were plenty of cakes, pies and other kinds of sweets to fill up on.
